Day works

Simpson Barracks, Yallambie

Early works for the North East Link Project are well underway with the removal of 95 above and below ground services ahead of major construction on Victoria's biggest road project from 2021. As part of these works, land within Simpson Barracks, an Australian Army facility operated by the Department of Defence, will be prepared for future construction in the area.

What we will be doing

Preparation works at Simpson Barracks includes:

- Installing security perimeter fencing
- Constructing new buildings, car parks, access roads and a new entrance
- Moving essential services, including a water main connection from Greensborough Road
- Demolishing existing Defence buildings and structures
- Earthworks, vegetation removal and salvage where possible
- Relocating the ANZAC Day service memorial

Base security will be maintained at all times during these works.

What you may experience

During these works you may notice:
